

CUISINE WEBSITES- TheEpicentre

Category: Cuisine Websites

Site reviewed: TheEpicentre.com

Award received: Great Site!

Review date: 03/30/07

Author of Review: JH

REVIEW - A tribute to the world of spices! This site supplies exotic herb and spice collections from all over the world. The spices are arranged in beautifully packaged canisters and can be sold individually or in sets of seven for the perfect gift. Each blend is complete with tips and recipes for every flavor. This is a site that explores a spice's true essence by featuring tips, ingredient guides, and an encyclopedia of spices to help cooks better understand their uses. We particularly enjoy the site's recipes which are inspired by unique spices and are organized by region or ingredient. Other features include helpful conversion charts along with the many related articles on food and wine as well as the cuisine of many popular travel destinations around the world. It truly represents a spice for life!

Reviewed 3/30/07 by JH

To Visit this website: <http://www.theepicentre.com>

NOTE: The Ratings Guy makes no representations or warranty that a Web site will ever achieve or maintain benchmark performance. Web site operators have no editorial input about the independent and objective reviews of the site judging, which is final. The Ratings Guy does not provide consulting or advisory services regarding improvements to Web sites, but rather relies on consumer opinions, trends, and industry standards for ethics, privacy, security and interface protocols. The Company's methodology for ratings and review is proprietary intellectual property. All information collected by the Company is subject to the Privacy Policy currently in effect. Suggestions may be made to the company via e-mail info@TheRatingsGuy.com.